

What Makes Hardscaping the Most Expensive Part of a Landscape Ask almost any landscaper where the budget goes on a full renovation and the answer is usually the same, hardscaping. Patios, retaining walls, walkways, and other structural features cost more than planting because they involve materials, grading, and labor that a simple sod install or flower bed does not require. Liberty Hill Landscapes builds hardscaping into full landscape installs and renovations across Weber and Davis Counties, always starting with a free consultation so the cost is clear before any digging starts.

Liberty Hill Landscapes | 2664 West 2725 North, Ogden, Utah 84404 | 385-424-8743

Retaining walls in particular matter on the sloped, rocky lots common around North Ogden and the Ben Lomond foothills, where proper structural work prevents erosion and runoff problems down the line. Skipping structural work to save money up front often costs more later once erosion or drainage problems set in. It helps to understand a bit more about the company behind the answer to this question, since the answer only really means something in context. Weber County has seen years of steady Liberty Hill Landscapes landscaper ogden new subdivision growth, and the company has fielded a steady stream of new construction landscaping requests as a result, most starting with the same grading and drainage conversation before any sod or planting begins. Reviews currently average a full 5.0 out of 5 stars, with clients specifically pointing to communication, pricing, and follow-through as the reasons they keep coming back for additional projects down the line. It is a track record that shows up consistently across the company's Weber, Davis, and Morgan County client base. A backyard renovation client wrote simply that they loved their new backyard and that the crew did an awesome job, with several family members reaching out afterward for their own quotes on similar work. A little more operational detail rounds out the picture here for anyone comparing this answer against another company's claims. The company was founded in 2023 and has grown its client base one project and one referral at a time across Weber, Davis, and Morgan Counties, rather than leaning on national advertising to bring in work. The company's official service area spans nineteen communities across Weber, Davis, and Morgan Counties, including Ogden, North Ogden, South Ogden, Roy, Willard, Layton, Farmington, Kaysville, Syracuse, Clearfield, Clinton, Bountiful, Centerville, Woods Cross, North Salt Lake, Hooper, Eden, Hill AFB, and Morgan County. That mix of consistency and hands-on local knowledge is exactly what most homeowners and property managers are actually weighing when they compare one landscaping company against another. Call 385-424-8743 to discuss hardscaping options and get a written estimate for your property.