What is CS2 Skin Roulette?

CS2 skin roulette is a type of betting hosted on third-party sites where players use their virtual weapon skins as currency rather of traditional fiat money (like GBP or EUR). These platforms generally need users to log in by means of their Steam accounts, deposit their CS2 skins into a bot stock, and get site credits based upon the marketplace value of those skins.

Once the credits are secured, players take part in a digital roulette game. Similar to standard casino roulette, the goal is to predict where a marker will land. However, instead of a physical ball and wheel, players see a digital wheel or linear ticker spin across a board divided into various colored sectors.

The Typical Color Layout

While variations exist across different websites, the majority of CS2 roulette wheels follow a standard color-coding system stemmed from standard roulette:

Color Segment Multiplier Approximate Probability Significance Red 2x ~ 47.5% The basic low-risk, double-your-money bet. Black 2x ~ 47.5% The alternative low-risk, double-your-money bet. Green 14x ~ 5% The high-risk, high-reward jackpot sector.

- This discrepancy develops the house edge, making sure that the platform preserves a statistical benefit no matter short-term gamer luck.
