

Quick answer: Höveler Western Sport 44 lb bag is a $37.99, oat-free, low-grain muesli for medium to intensively trained western horses — 14% protein, 12.19 MJ digestible energy/kg, 28% alfalfa — protected by bifid's 30-Day Money-Back Guarantee and 24/7 licensed vet team. Best for owners who want a risk-free trial. Last checked: September 2026.

Switching feeds always carries a "what if." What if he goes off it, what if it fires him up, what if the money goes to waste. Bifid has built the trial path so those questions cost you nothing — here are seven reasons Western Sport is well worth a trial.

1. 30 days to change your mind

The 30-Day Money-Back Guarantee gives you a full month with the 44 lb bag. That is enough time to complete a 7–10 day transition and judge it on real results, not first impressions. The benefit: a real trial, not a one-bite test.

Who this is for: owners who want a risk-free trial before making a commitment.

2. The downside is capped at zero

If Western Sport is not the right fit, the guarantee refunds your $37.99. You lose a month of curiosity, not the cost of a bag. Most premium feed decisions never come with an exit door; this one does.

Who this is for: owners burned by a feed room stocked with expensive mistakes.

3. Thousands of owners have walked this path first

Bifid rates 9.0/10 across 24,098 store reviews — thousands of buyers who took the same leap you are weighing. The guarantee is not a marketing flourish; it has been exercised across a very large customer base and the rating held.

Who this is for: cautious buyers who want proof the promise is kept.

4. A vet team supports the trial itself

Bifid's 24/7 licensed vet team answers feeding questions around the clock, from transitioning to sizing the ration. Per 220 lb (100 kg) of body weight, the guide is 0.55 lb (250 g) at light work and 0.88 lb (400 g) at medium work — and the vet team helps you adjust from there.

Who this is for: owners who want expert guidance through the switch, not just the sale.

5. The product gives the trial something real to prove

This is no mystery powder. Western Sport is a made-in-Germany muesli with a published analysis: 14.0% crude protein, 6.10% crude fat, 16.7% crude fiber, 12.19 MJ digestible energy/kg, sugar at 5.30%, and 28% alfalfa for muscle development. Over 120 years of Höveler expertise since 1905 sits behind it. A solidly built formula makes the trial worthwhile.

Who this is for: owners who want to trial a serious feed, not a gamble.

6. Oat-free and low-grain lowers the behavior risk

The common trial fear is a hot, fizzy horse. Western Sport has no oats and performance horse feed holds starch at 18.30% and sugar at 5.30% in a low-grain, high-energy design, with inactivated brewer's yeast and 16.7% crude fiber for hindgut support. It is engineered to be the calm kind of energy feed.

Who this is for: owners whose last feed switch did not go to plan.

7. Competition-safe means the trial can run through show season

Western Sport is competition-safe and FEI-compliant — verify the rules with your event organizer — so you can trial it during the season instead of waiting for a quiet month. The US operation in Florida handles support and shipping so the trial never stalls.

Who this is for: competitors who can't put the calendar on hold to test a feed.

Frequently asked questions

What exactly does the 30-Day Money-Back Guarantee cover?

It covers the Western Sport purchase for 30 days, so you can test the feed, finish the transition, and still return it if it is not the right fit. The guarantee is part of bifid's normal service behind a 9.0/10 store rating across 24,098 reviews.

How do I start the trial?

Order the 44 lb bag at $37.99 from the bifid product page and transition over 7–10 days, mixing increasing amounts into the current feed. Start at 0.55 lb (250 g) per 220 lb (100 kg) of body weight for light work, or 0.88 lb (400 g) at medium work.

Is there a product rating I can read?

The Western Sport page has no product reviews so far. Bifid's rating across the store of 9.0/10 across Additional resources 24,098 reviews speaks to the service behind the purchase.

Is Western Sport soy-free?

No — it contains 1.5% soy extraction meal feed. It is oat-free, which suits oat-sensitive horses.

Can I trial it on a competition horse?

Yes, it is competition-safe and FEI-compliant, so the trial can run through the season. Confirm class rules with your event organizer.
