Skipping the car on game day removes the parking question entirely and can make the trip home easier. The ballpark is reachable by bus, bike and trail. On a work trip, a predictable plan with a little slack protects the meeting at the other end.

By bus

Three Milwaukee County Transit System routes stop within about a fifteen-minute walk of the ballpark, including the CONNECT 1 line on Wisconsin Avenue. There is no special ballpark-only route, so plan with the regular routes.

Check the timetable for the trip home before the game, especially for night games, so you know your last practical bus.

By bike

Bike racks sit near several ballpark entrances, and a bike share station is located on the walkway near one of the lots. Bring a good lock and park https://chicago.ghost.io/summerfest-parking-shuttles-and-getting-there-without-a-car/ in a visible spot.

Lights and a reflective layer help on the ride home after a night game.

By trail

The Hank Aaron State Trail links the ballpark area with the Lake Michigan lakefront along the Menomonee River. It is a pleasant route for walkers and cyclists in good weather.

Give yourself enough daylight for the trip there, and plan a lit route for the way back.

Planning the day

Choose one main option and one backup, and check the weather before you go. Wet or cold weather can make a bus the better choice even for regular riders.

Traveling without a car often makes the end of the game easier, since you skip the line of cars leaving the lots.
