What is Plinko and How Does It Work?

At its core, Plinko is a game of opportunity based on possibility and physics simulation. When a player initiates a round, they drop a puck (or ball) from the top of a pyramid-shaped board filled with challenges-- typically pegs. As the disc falls, it bounces off these pegs in a randomized trajectory till it lands in one of the slots at the bottom.

Each slot corresponds to a particular multiplier, which determines the payout for the round. The slots situated toward the center of the board usually provide lower multipliers (and even lead to a loss), while the slots toward the external edges normally provide substantially greater benefits, reflecting the lower mathematical likelihood of the puck landing there.

The Anatomy of a Plinko Round

Function Description Grid Size Normally varies from 8 to 16 lines of pegs. Volatility Levels Low, Medium, and High (determines threat vs. reward). The Payouts Multipliers that multiply the initial bet amount. Provable Fairness A cryptographic method to validate each outcome is random.
