This quiz is accurate at one thing: counting which of its 100 statements apply to you. Answer honestly and the number is exact.

Where it falls short is click here measure character. It does not ask about kindness, honesty or responsibility, and it treats every item as one point, whether minor or serious.

It cannot see context. It has no way to tell a decision from a circumstance.

Treat it for what it is: a fun checklist and conversation starter. Ignore anyone who uses a score to judge people.