Carpet hides a lot. Even when it looks fine from across the room, it can be holding onto dust, pollen, pet hair and grit deep in its fibers. Over time that build-up wears carpet down and makes a home feel less fresh. Vacuuming carpets is part of every standard visit from The Happy Housekeepers, a Roanoke house cleaning company that has served the valley since 1979.

Plenty of Roanoke homes still have wall-to-wall carpet, especially the split levels and ranch homes built in Cave Spring, Vinton and Roanoke County in the 1970s through the 1990s. Bedrooms, family rooms, stairs and finished basements are commonly carpeted, and each of those spaces collects dirt in its own way.

Seasonal changes make carpet care a year-round job. In April, pollen tracks in and settles into carpets near doors and windows. In summer, kids and pets bring in grass and dirt from the yard. In winter, salt and red clay come in on boots. Regular vacuuming pulls all of it out before it grinds into the fibers and shortens the life of your carpet.

Vacuuming is only one piece of a full visit. Furniture is dusted or polished, hard floors are mopped, window sills, baseboards, blinds and ceiling fans are dusted and the kitchen and bathrooms get complete clean-ups. Cobwebs are removed and waste baskets emptied. Specialized services such as basement cleaning, spring and fall cleanings and washing walls and woodwork can be added.

Pet owners and families with allergies often professional house cleaners benefit most from regular carpet care. A weekly or bi-weekly plan keeps hair and dander from building up, while monthly visits suit smaller households with lighter traffic. Stairs, which collect dust in corners and along edges, get attention too.

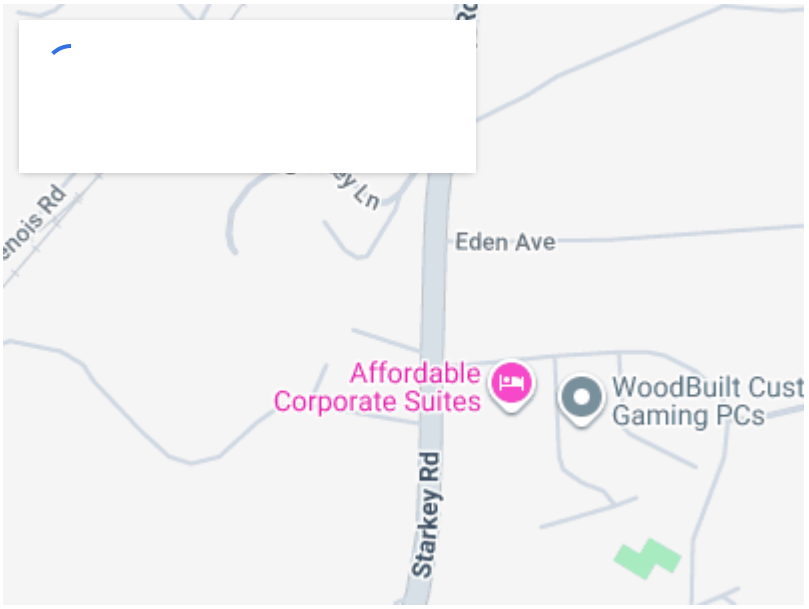

The Happy Housekeepers is licensed, bonded and insured, and staff are bonded and insured by the company, so you can be away from home during cleaning. The business holds a BBB blue seal and follows up by phone after the first visit to make sure you are satisfied.

Estimates are free with no obligation, and Visa, Mastercard, American Express and Discover are accepted for easy payment once you decide to book a plan that suits your home.
